This contribution was discovered after the end of the election. Because I had taken my name out of the race, the check was returned to the contributor without being deposited into the campaign account. I have a copy of the letter that I sent the contributor explaining the situation. My mother was critically ill during this time, and I was making multiple trips to Illinois to assist her and with her affairs. It was a very difficult period, and I was quite distracted, and thus I neglected to report this contribution as it should have been noted. I apologize for this error. I have not received notification from the contributor that they received the returned check and letter. Please, verify with the contributor whether or not the check was received. --Mike Robinson
